

WEEKEND CHINA DAILY

美国版
USA

FRIDAY-SUNDAY, September 19-21, 2014

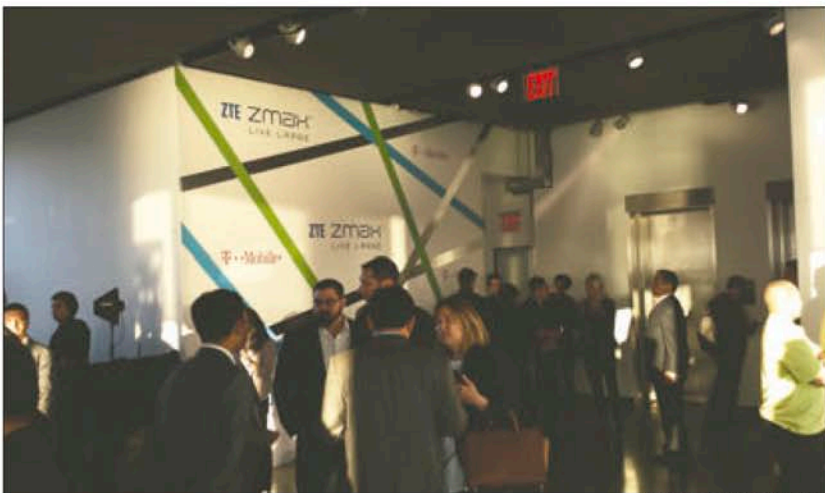

中國日報

chinadailyusa.com $1

中國日報 CHINA DAILY USA
Friday-Sunday, September 19-21, 2014 | readers@chinadailyusa.com

new york 9

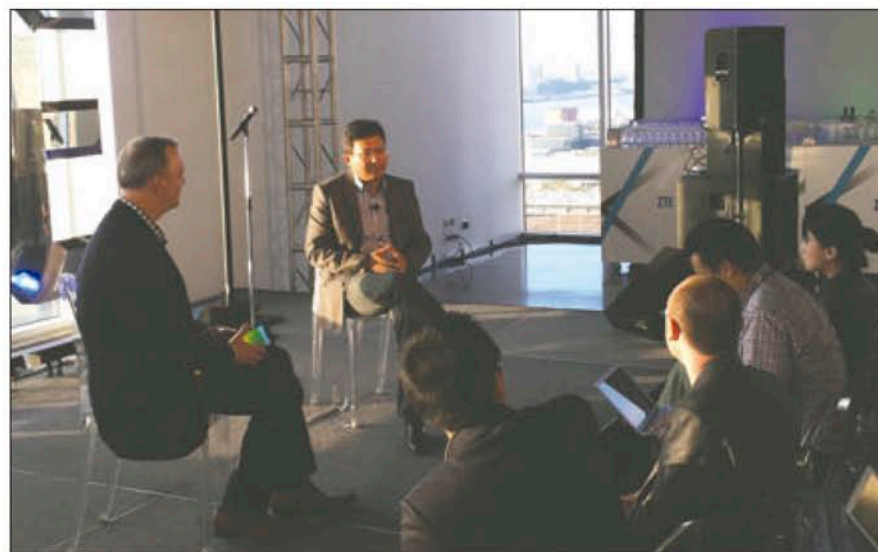

GOINGS ON

JACK FREIFELDER / CHINA DAILY

POSITIVE RECEPTION

Invited guests of ZTE USA mingle at a private launch event in New York on Tuesday to announce the company's new smartphone device, the ZTE ZMAX.

JACK FREIFELDER / CHINA DAILY

OPEN DIALOGUE

Lixin Cheng (right), chairman and CEO of ZTE USA, and Andrew Elliott (left), senior director of marketing at ZTE USA, speak with invited members of the press on Tuesday in New York at a private launch event for the smartphone manufacturer's new device, the ZTE ZMAX. The device, which retails for $252, will be available throughout the US beginning on Sept 24.

JACK FREIFELDER / CHINA DAILY

MAKING A POINT

Alfred Lwin, a high school science teacher at the Manhattan Comprehensive Night and Day High School, gives a presentation at the New York University Silver Center on Sept 13 in New York. Lwin was one of 12 teachers chosen to take part in the 2014 Astor International Travel Fellowship Program, an 11-day program that brought together Chinese and American educators to share insights on approaches to teaching science in grade school, middle school and high school.

RAINBOW EFFECT
A Colorful World?, a solo exhibition of new sculptures, photographs, and lightboxes by Liu Bolin is on view at Klein Sun Gallery in New York through Nov 1. The exhibition is a reference to the countless multicolored advertisements and consumer goods that cloud today's understanding of oppression and injustice.

PROVIDED TO CHINA DAILY